It's a Guessing Game—Pick Out the Make of Car With Only One Look

Many of this year's model automobiles have their distinguishing features on the back fender. These three pictures are of the back fenders of three cars, although not a usual angle. See if you can pick out the brands for one look at a fender.

Yule Card Drive To Be Repeated

Various women's clubs will be sponsoring a Christmas card fund drive to raise money for a community center.

Families are asked to donate the money they would normally spend on Christmas cards to the fund. Donations will be deposited in the First National Bank.

More than $1,000 was given in last year's drive. Plans for remodeling the American Legion Hall, approved by the Community Center Association in May, call for more than $15,000 in expenditures.

Donations may be made at the bank by filling out deposit slips to "Christmas Card Project."

The Canyon News will carry a list of donors in its Christmas issue.

Dr. Jarrett Elected Little League Head

Randall County Little League met last night to elect their new officers for the coming year.

Dr. Bob Jarrett was elected president for the third year of Little League play. Rex Reeves, manager of the Yankees last year, was elected vice president. Bill Davis was re-elected secretary and J. D. Byrd was re-elected treasurer.

Other officers are Truett Hull, player agent, Tony Rossi, umpire-in-chief, Dr. Sam Urban, official scorekeeper, Leroy Moreland, PA system, Clay Cooper, concessions, and Bob Gough, grounds committee.

The group resolved to recommend to president Jarrett that a bid for the district playoff be made at the district meeting in January.

Men's Clubs Go To Nationals

West Texas State College's four men's social clubs have established ties with national social fraternities and will begin training in preparation for installation as new chapters.

Affiliation with the national groups was made Saturday, according to W. Mitchell Jones, dean of men, and the social clubs will start immediately on a training and pledge period. Installation of the chapters is expected next spring.

Epsilon Beta will become affiliated with Sigma Nu, Tau Tau Tau with Alpha Tau Omega, Alpha Sigma Xi with Kappa Alpha Order, and Lambda Pi Delta with Lambda Chi Alpha.

Move for WT's social clubs to become affiliated with national sororities and fraternities came quickly after the Board of Regents of Texas State Teachers Colleges granted permission last fall.

The four women's groups became national sororities earlier this month with formal installation programs. The men's clubs will follow a similar procedure next spring, Dean Jones said.

"I am very pleased with the selection of the men's fraternities," Dean Jones said. "They represent three of the old line fraternities, and one of the very best of the newer organizations."

E. A. Oberst Sr. attended the funeral of his sister in Fall City, Neb. He returned Monday.

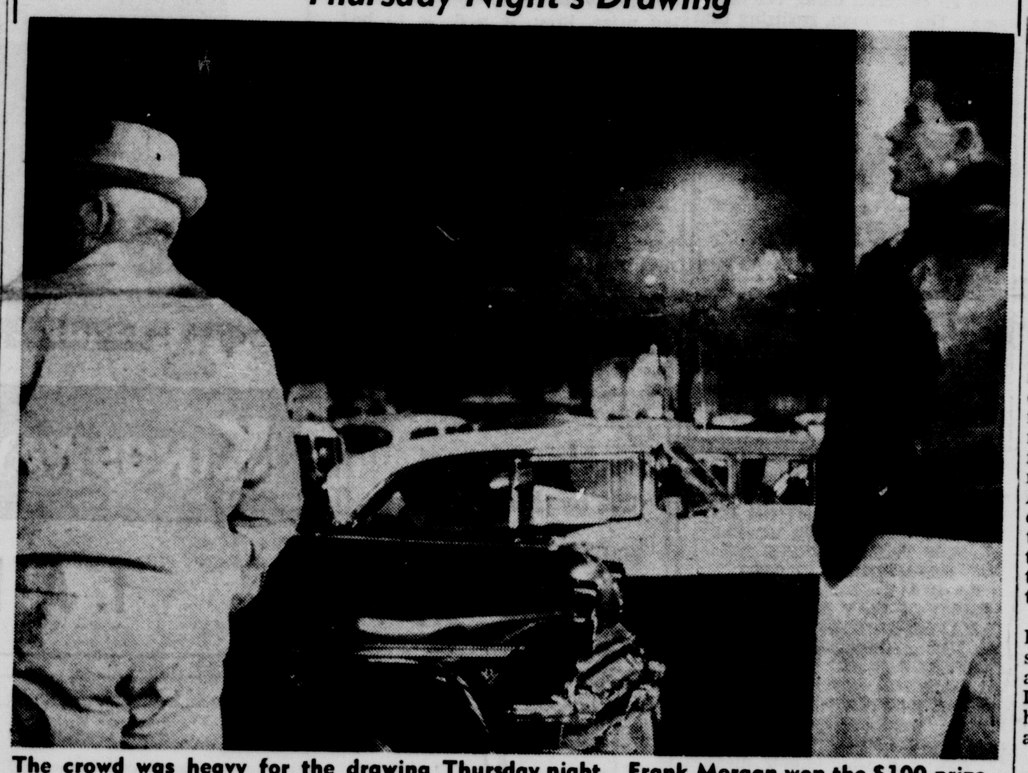
Thursday Night's Drawing



The crowd was heavy for the drawing Thursday night. Frank Morgan won the $100 prize. This week's drawing will begin at 7:30 p. m. instead of 7 p. m. as in the first two weeks. A total of $125 will be given away.

Traditional Homecoming Planned For WT Golden Anniversary Year

For Homecoming, 1959, during West Texas State College's "Golden Anniversary" observance, a return to the "old-style barbecue," parade and other traditional events will be featured.

Dr. Jack Walker, chairman of the Homecoming Committee at WT, has announced that WT's Homecoming in 1959 will be celebrated on Nov. 7, the date of the final home football game for the Buffaloes. Game opponent will be Virginia Tech.

Besides the barbecue and parade other features planned include open houses by departments, club reunions and parties, a Homecoming Dance, Western Week observance and other traditional events of the past.

An added feature will be recognition of all former Homecoming Queens, with their presentation during the day.

Moore Services Held Saturday

Funeral services for John Allen Moore, 88, were conducted at 2 p. m. Saturday in the Warren-LaGrone Funeral Chapel by the Rev. H. Doyle Ragle, pastor of the First Methodist Church.

Burial was in Dreamland Cemetery under the direction of Warren-LaGrone.

Born Jan. 1, 1870, in Alton, Tenn., Mr. Moore died Thursday in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Grady Pearson of Spearman.

He came to Canyon in 1918 from Floydada.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Roy Pendleton of Stratford and Mrs. Grady Pearson; three sons, Claude of Canyon, and Charlie A. and Haynes, both of Holdenville, Okla.; a brother, Ed Moore of Denton County; 10 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

Eaglettes Begin Practice Games

The Canyon High Eaglettes started their basketball season a week ago with practice scrimmages, looking toward the first game with Panhandle at Canyon on Nov. 21.

The team scrimmaged Kress Nov. 11, and scrimmaged Happy Tuesday night.

The B-team girls beat Kress B-Team 18-14, with Shannon Downing dumping in seven points and Loree Shelnutt six to lead the Eaglettes. The two girls are B-team co-captains.

The Kress A-team defeated the Canyon A-team 48-45 in a close scrimmage. Marilyn Winn contributed 19 points. She and Nancy Wiggins are co-captains of the A-team.

The two teams played Happy Tuesday night. Both teams were overpowered, the B-team 49-18, and the A-team 62-21.

Mrs. Marian Young is coach of the girls teams.

Buckner Fanning To Lead Revival

Plans have been announced by Dr. Strauss Atkinson, pastor of the First Baptist Church, for a seven day series of meetings with evangelist Buckner Fanning. The week long crusade will begin Sunday, Nov. 30.

The young evangelist, a resident of Dallas, has gained considerable attention recently from religious leaders as a result of his successful city-wide crusades conducted in many cities. Newsweek magazine described him as the "newest member of the exclusive full-time ranks . . .of nationwide workers for the Lord . . ." The evangelist recently concluded a campaign in Augusta, Ga., sponsored by 50 churches of the area. During the two-week period, 60,000 persons attended the services in Bell Auditorium and 1600 persons declared themselves for Christ.

With Fanning will be his regular soloist, Bill Jackson, a former student of John Charles Thomas and member of the Los Angeles Light Opera Company. Jackson has in the past three years devoted all of his time to Christian service.

Dr. Atkinson announced services will be held nightly in the church at 7:30 with special services at 7 a. m.

Dr. J. B. Roberts To Address P-TA

Tomorrow night's meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association will present Dr. J. B. Roberts, head of the education department at the college. He will speak on the topic "American Educator—Why?"

Other features of the meeting will be a presentation of instrumental music and a social following the business session.

An executive meeting will be held at 7 p. m. just before the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Green and children of Ashtola were recent guests in the Joe Green home.

Rotary District Leader Comes Here

The Rotary Club of Canyon will be host to Burnett B. Roberts, governor of the 573 district of Rotary International, Monday and Tuesday. The governor is on his annual official visit to each of the 43 clubs in the top 59 counties of Texas.

The governor will be a guest of the club at a salad supper for Rotarians and their wives on Monday night, and will be guest speaker for the regular meeting at noon Tuesday.

The governor is owner of an insurance agency in Levelland and has been a member of Rotary since 1935. Born in Vegreville, Alberta, Canada, he moved to Amarillo in 1925 and finished schools there in 1931. He moved to Levelland and farmed until 1947, when he rented his farm and established his insurance agency.

He has been active in community affairs serving as director of the Chamber of Commerce, Community Chest and as president of the Hockley County Junior Livestock show for several years.

Money Given for Science Teachers

A grant of $84,500 from the National Science Foundation has been received by West Texas State College to conduct a Summer Institute for high school science teachers during the summer of 1959. President James P. Cornette announced the award Wednesday.

The Summer Institute will be part of a nation-wide program, sponsored and supported by the National Science Foundation, to improve the quality of teaching of high school science subjects.

"Objective of the program is to provide solid subject-matter foundation in scientific fields for teachers who are not well-prepared in these subjects, and to update the sometimes years-old preparation of some teachers," said Dr. W. D. Compton, head of the WT chemistry department.

Dr. Compton has been named director of the Institute. He will attend a meeting of Institute directors from all over the nation Dec. 12-13 in Washington.

One of the most attractive features of the Institute is that nearly 50 teachers who apply for the summer's work will be paid a stipend of $75 a week, plus $15 a week for each dependent to a maximum of four. Winners of the award will also receive a mileage allowance for one round trip from home to Canyon.

WT's Summer Institute, first to be offered in the Panhandle or West Texas, will coincide with the regular summer term, which opens June 2 and continues for 12 weeks. Both fundamental and advanced courses will be offered in the departments of chemistry, physics and mathematics.

Applications from science and mathematics teachers will be received until Feb. 16, 1959, Dr. Compton said, and announcement of winners will be made April 1. Teachers awarded the grants may enroll for college credit, or just for the work, he said.

"The main purpose of the Institute is to provide the work, and not necessarily the college credit," Dr. Compton said.

Scientists of national stature will be sought by the Institute for lectures and seminars, Dr. Compton said. The program of classroom and laboratory work, informal discussion meetings of students and staff, and field trips to scientific establishments in the area will be conducted by Dr. Compton, Dr. J. S. Urban, head of the physics department, and Dr. H. L. Cook, head of the mathematics department.

"Institute participants will be selected by the staff from in-service teachers and science and mathematics in the area served by the college," Dr. Compton said. "There will be no formal geographic limitation on applicants, however, and a number of out-of-state participants is expected."

Although the number of participants receiving stipends will be limited to 48, others who apply may enroll for the work.

"The stipend is probably the most attractive feature of the program," Dr. Compton said. "It enables the teacher to acquire course work he needs at little or no financial sacrifice."

Participants will live on campus and will spend an average of 30-40 hours per week in classroom and laboratory work. Social and recreational activities are planned as part of the Institute's program.

Information regarding the Institute, and applications for the stipends will be sent to school officials throughout West Texas and the Tri-State area about Jan. 1, Dr. Compton said.

National Science Foundation institutes have been held previously at the universities of Oklahoma and New Mexico, but none have been held west of Brownwood in Texas.

Richardson Leads Eagles Statistics

Final statistics of the 1958 Canyon Eagle football season show quarterback Jerry Richardson as the leading ground-gainer, leading scorer and best passer.

The Eagles had a six-win, four-loss season, with a three-win, one-loss district record. Their wins were 20-6 over Slaton, 17-8 over Hereford, 27-6 over Wellington, 21-18 over Dalhart, 34-20 over Tulia, and 34-6 over Friona.

Their losses were 32-6 to Perryton, 26-0 to Dumas, 15-0 to Phillips and 14-6 to Dimmitt. The Eagles are co-champions of District 1-AA with Dimmitt.

In the 10 games, Canyon made 165 points to 151 for their opponents.

Richardson led the rushing columns with a 5.68-per try average. He carried the ball 127 times for 722 yards. During the season he made 13 touchdowns for 78 points and passed for two more. He passed 70 times for 22 completions, an average of 31 per cent. His passes picked up 309 yards, and he had seven intercepted. In addition, Richardson punted four times for a 22.75 average per punt.

Ronnie Huyck came in second to Richardson in rushing. He carried the ball 100 times for 583 yards, an average of 5.83 yards per try. He scored four touchdowns for 24 points.

Eddie Boydstun, who played better than half the season mostly on the line, carried the ball 53 times for 245 yards, averaging 4.62 per try. He caught nine passes for 92 yards and threw one for no completion. He scored 14 points on one field goal, one extra point run and 10 extra point kicks. He attempted 13 extra point kicks and completed 10. Boydstun punted 36 times for 1170 yards, averaging 32.5 yards. His longest punt was a 49-yarder against Dumas.

Tommy Henderson carried the ball 48 times for 233 yards for a 4.85 average. He caught two passes for 33 yards and threw three for three completions and 35 yards. He scored one extra point run for two points. Henderson played tackle for a good part of the season, and did not carry the ball at all in three games.

Larry Brotherton was next in rushing, with 46 carries for 185 yards, averaging 4.02 yards. He did not begin regular playing in the offensive backfield until the sixth game. He caught six passes for 119 yards and scored 24 points on four touchdowns.

Richard Purcell, substitute quarterback, carried the ball six times for a minus 11 yards. Jimmy Killingsworth threw one pass for 22 yards.

The team made a total of 2288 yards on 444 carries, averaging 5.15 yards per try and 228 yards per game. Their opponents made 2434 yards on 548 carries, averaging 4.44 per try and 243 per game.

In passing, the Eagles threw 77 for 26 completions, making 366 yards, and had eight intercepted. They averaged 36.6 yards per game passing. Their opponents passed 79 times for 26 completions and 306 yards. The Eagles intercepted nine of their passes. The opponents averaged 30.6 yards per game.

During the season, the Eagles made 128 first downs to 166 for their opponents. They were penalized 64 times for 585 yards and their opponents got 54 penalties for 514 yards.

The Eagles lost 15 fumbles and recovered 18 of their opponents' fumbles. They had 564 total plays to 669 for their opponents.

To Make the Same

Over many highways, the people of the United States are moving toward complete conformity. In many cases, what we're conforming to is someone's idea of what we should be.

It's becoming dangerous to think for yourself, and then try to put your thoughts into action. Those who think that the conformity movement is wrong, and who fight it, find themselves in an unpopular situation.

We all realize that individuals must conform in certain ways in order to get along. When a non-conformist refuses to go along at all, we call him a criminal and put him in jail. That happens when a person refuses to conform to moral law, especially that moral law which has been included in civil law.

But there's no such penalty yet for those who refuse to give up their individuality. The penalty for that is social pressure.

When a person or group wants to control other people, it requires absolute conformity. Look at the Communist nations. Any individuality of thought or action is quickly suppressed, usually through swift and silent murder.

Hitler didn't allow non-conformists. Other dictators didn't allow the individual citizen to go around expressing his opinion.

Giving up your right to be an individual is the loss of one of our most basic freedoms. There was a time when a non-conformist ended up being a leader. Thomas Jefferson refused to conform to a number of practices, and he ended up being a leader. His leadership did not require strict conformity of the followers.

Franklin Roosevelt was pretty much of a non-conformist but his leadership required a certain amount of conformity to his ideas.

Strict conformity has a levelling effect. Since it is impossible to expect the lowest echelons to conform to the standards of the highest, then the highest must give way and retreat to lower levels. Our schools show this in the idea of slowing up the bright and rushing the dumber in order to teach the mass.

Our towns show it in the movement to get every store a new front that looks like the fronts of stores in every town around. Our churches show it in refusal to allow other religions a chance.

It's a bad movement, especially for a church. Jesus conformed to those things which were good, but refused to go along with bad actions and ideas.

Americans would do well to resist the movement toward conformity.

Aaound in Circles

Find the sense in this if you can. An agency of the federal government is conducting tests in the northwestern states in an attempt to raise the production-per-acre of wheat strains. They've found one strain that produces upwards of 100 bushels an acre.

At the same time, another part of the agency is paying subsidies to limit the number of acres in production in order to lessen the oversupply of wheat. And another part of that same agency is saying there is enough surplus wheat to supply the nation for three years without any new production.

And yet another part of the same agency is paying out money for farmers who work their land to conserve the topsoil and moisture — insuring, among other things, more production per acre. And still another section of the agency is paying out money to landowners who will take their land completely out of production.

It doesn't make much sense. And we can expect the same sort of thing for Big-L Labor to come out of the new congress, the one that Big-L Labor is claiming as its own.

Missed Forecast

It seems almost that when the weatherman predicts a big snow, we can sit back and know that it won't happen. But when they miss a coming front, or say that it won't produce much of anything, it's time to get extra milk for the baby and turn up the furnaces—we're liable to be snowed in for days.

Fund Drives

In many of the area papers we find stories of the beginning, the middle or the end of a Community Chest or United Fund drive, in which one collection for all social welfare agencies is made.

We won't have such a thing in Canyon this year. Instead we'll have a half-dozen drives, and we predict freely ahead of time that all will fail their goals.

It really isn't that the people of Canyon are tight-fisted or that they have no desire to help a fellow-citizen who is down on his luck. It's that there are so many different drives, all trying to use the same workers, that no one ever does a good job in collecting or in giving.

But we won't have a combined drive this year, and probably not next year either.

Second the Motin

Herbert O. Willborn of Amarillo has been endorsed by Amarillo groups as the replacement for Dick Bivins on the State Board of Education.

Bivins, who died recently, was a member of the Amarillo School board in 1949, when he resigned to become a member of the state board. Willborn was appointed to the Amarillo board to fill Bivins' spot.

Both Bivins and Willborn kept their respective school board spots from 1949 on. Willborn was president of the Amarillo board from 1955 to 1957.

From all reports, Willborn has done a good job on the Amarillo board, and could be expected to do the same sort of job on the state board. He is president of Willborn Brothers Tank Company and is probably financially independent enough to afford taking time from his business to help run the state's business. (That's an important facet in Texas.)

For what it's worth, we'd like to second the nomination of Willborn.

Job Well Done

The high school football season came to an abrupt end last Friday for those of us who had built up our hopes a little bit high, but a little afterthought changes our attitude.

The Eagles battled to a district co-championship. And they did a fine job with some pretty tough competition, especially earlier in the season. The team had very little weight, except in certain individuals, and the team average was pretty low. As a whole the team had little speed, too.

Yet Coach Bill Davis and his assistants — Bill West, John Howle and James Kauffman — took the boys and molded them into a smooth operating team. We think they did a good job.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By BOYCE HOUSE

At the State Capitol in Nashville there is a bronze statue of Edward Ward Carmack, one of the most brilliant men of the South in his day. He was a member of the United States Senate from 1901 to 1907. I did not move to Tennessee until 1910, which was two years after Carmack's assassination.

He had made a race for governor, a bitter contest which he lost. The Memphis Commercial Appeal, which he had formerly edited, opposed him in that campaign, and I recall that a schoolmate in Central High quoted the headline which "the C.A." had carried next morning after Carmack and his opponent had debated in Memphis. Carmack, who had red hair, was an eloquent and vigorous speaker — sometimes scathing, and had been given the nickname of "Red Wolf." One day when Sterling and I were in the Cossitt Library, we looked in the old newspaper files and, sure enough, clear across the top of the front page, were the words just as he had quoted them, "Red Wolf Goes to Bed Supperless."

When I was a reporter on the Commercial Appeal in 1916, as we sat around at 1:45 a. m. waiting for the first copies of the final edition, an oldtimer related that when Carmack was the editor, he was for Bryan and silver and the owner was for McKinley and gold. Rather than write editorials which did not represent his own convictions, Carmack resigned.

The foreman of our paper had held a similar position with Carmack's journal in Nashville in 1908. The editor had incurred the enmity of a political leader—probably because of the recent bitter campaign—and this man sent word that, if his name appeared in the columns again, he would kill Carmack. The latter immediately wrote an editorial using the man's name. The foreman, realizing that if the article appeared, it might prove to be Carmack's death warrant, threw the type away. But the editor discovered this, ordered the editorial re-set and it was published. (So our foreman related the story.)

Next day, Carmack met the political leader and his son on the street and was shot to death. The father was tried and convicted and, when the highest court denied his appeal, he was immediately pardoned by the governor, Carmack's former rival.

I was visiting in Memphis in 1909 when one of the last of the great Confederate reunions was held. The governor rode by in his carriage; there were no cheers—only mutterings. He was nominated for another term but so great was the antagonism that he did an almost unprecedented act: he gave up the nomination.

Senator Bob Taylor, the most beloved man in Tennessee, was persuaded to come down from Washington to make the race for governor but not even genial, story-telling, fiddling, eloquent Bob could bridge the chasm. The Republicans elected a governor and re-elected him to a second and a third term.

The brilliant career of Carmack's rival ended, utterly and abruptly. Some years later, he attempted a comeback but it was in vain. I heard him speak twice in that campaign and am convinced that he might have been an outstanding figure in the nation had he not granted that pardon.

But his name is in oblivios while the bronze figure of Carmack stands in triumph a few blocks from the scene which saw his death.

Sometimes, history does write just verdicts.

Paul Loftin in the Panhandle Herald: Randall County will begin filing suit Dec. 1 on all delinquent taxes on personal property. That's good. If a county or other taxing agencies claim taxes on personal property then they should make the same effort to collect this tax as on real property.

If the tax on personal property is not worthy of suits against delinquents then let's not impose the tax in the first place.

Local tax agencies have remarkable collection records and chances are the records would be even better if two of the agencies did not have personal taxes on the rolls.

Jimmie Gillentine in the Hereford Brand: One of the more pleasant chores involved with the newspaper business is that of going to the post office. This is one place where the editor and publisher stands out. It is his one mark of prestige and recognition that goes without challenge.

In the first place, necessity demands that he have one of the large size boxes—even if it does cost a buck or two more each quarter. Other people have the large boxes, but the pay off comes when they start getting out the mail. It is a source of genuine pride when you remove your mail alongside a bank president—and calmly walk away with two or three times as much correspondence. Doctors and lawyers don't even count. Their daily mail is so meager that they usually send one of the girls and, in some cases, probably even get it on city delivery.

In the newspaper business you get a lot of special delivery letters, correspondence from Hongkong to Alaska and hardly a day passes that you do not have at least three letters from senators or congressmen. Once in a while, the President.

Needless to say, most of this correspondence is from folks who want you to publish free some sort of advertising for which they should pay. However, the bankers and the elevator men don't know this, and what they don't know won't hurt them. The bad thing about it is that you have to search through the whole mess with a fine tooth comb for fear that you might overlook a check. It is worth the effort, though. When I get down in the dumps about something, I generally grab my hat and head for the post office. It is really good for the ego.

NEWS LETTER

FROM CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS OF THE 18TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

The General Election: What Happened?

Now that the election is over, the hindsight geniuses are busy explaining the whys and wherefores, in an attitude of "I knew it all the time." But to the utter confusion of the reader-listener, each commentator or columnist advances a different theory as to why what happened did happen.

If you accept all of these diverse opinions as correct analyses, you find yourself on a mental merry-go-round, with some of the horses attempting to go in both directions at the same time. This leaves the reader-listener in the same state of bewilderment so obviously occupied by the President when he appeared at his news conference following the election returns.

Although the President was deeply disappointed, as he naturally would be, his bewilderment wasn't the result of disappointment, but more the result of his complete failure to understand why the people had so voted. He no doubt felt like the man who was arrested for singing too loudly in church.

He had been advised that everything was fine and dandy, that the people were well satisfied with the administration's handling of the governmental affairs, and that there was nothing to worry about. What his advisors didn't tell him was the fact that the American people have, time after time, repudiated individuals and administrations where a taint of corruption had crept in; that the Adams-Goldfine affair was not something that could be swept under the rug; that the corruption issue unquestionably played a major part in the Maine elections which were a forerunner to the general election.

They did not tell him that the economic situation in many sections of this country was not good, and that the administration was coming in for its share of the blame.

They did not tell him that the Benson farm policies were not acceptable to the agricultural groups of this nation, and that the farm sections of this country were not satisfied with the continuing decline in farm prices while the cost of living was measurably increased; that the farm income was dropping while the income of all other segment of our economy was steadily increasing.

They did not tell him that there was a deep resentment throughout the entire nation with reference to the sending of Federal troops into Little Rock, a resentment based not upon the racial question, but upon the use of Federal bayonets against American citizens.

They did not tell him many other things that he, as the President of the United States, should have been told, or perhaps it should be said that they did not impress upon him the full gravity of the situation. Otherwise, he would not find himself in the present state of bewilderment.

The facts are that there are still many people in this country who under-estimate the American people. Lincoln once said, "You can fool some of the people all of the time, and all of the people some of the time, but you can't fool all the people all the time." The same is true today.

If anything, there are fewer Americans today that can be fooled than in Lincoln's time, and it would be much more difficult to fool all of the people for any length of time now, than before our present mediums of communication and transportation. Those who believe that Lincoln's theory was wrong, and continue to discount the American's ability to form public opinion on the basic facts, always learn the hard way.

In the opinion of this writer, there are two major issues that produced the election results of November 4. These had about equal weight. One was the question of corruption in public office, which the American people will not tolerate. Excuses and explanations are futile, because the average American citizen does not believe in crookedness or corruption, and it is more abhorrent if it is associated with a public trust.

The other issue was economics. The tragic economic situation in which the American farmer has been placed had a telling effect in the election, regardless of what Mr. Benson might or might not say. You have only to make a geographical check to find out that the Benson policies did not coincide with the views of the farmers.

The economic situation in many of the industrial areas of this nation also had a telling effect, which can be proven by another geographical check. The people know that recessions and semi-depressions are the result of permitting the general economy to get out of balance. They know that some of the money policies followed by this administration have created that imbalance, and that unless these are corrected real economic trouble can result.

It is my opinion that the people of this country did not issue a mandate to the legislative branch of the government to engage in a spending orgy, or to invoke programs designed to further centralize the control of the nation. The American people felt they were entitled to have a sane approach to the problems and an economy in which some semblance of balance is maintained.

Swine Program Slated Tomorrow

Swine producers in Randall County are encouraged to attend the swine clinic tomorrow, starting at 9 a. m., in Amarillo's Tri-State Fairgrounds, according to John Brazzil, county agent.

Specialists from the Texas A&M College Extension Service will conduct the clinic, in which top barrows from several counties will be evaluated on foot, slaughtered and cut out. The carcasses will be evaluated again.

Brazzil has issued the invitation to Randall County swine producers. He said that this year has brought a big increase in the number of swine producers and also in the number of animals produced. Some Randall County farmers this year have been able to sell their milo grain through hogs and receive about $2.50 per hundred weight when the market price for this grain was much lower.

Some of the new trends in swine production such as breeding for the meat-type hog, pig parlors, new rations and the use of anti-biotics, sanitation and disease control will be discussed.

Next year's outlook predicts lower pork prices but with efficient production using latest known research methods, swine producers in the area should be able to compete successfully, Brazzil said.

This meeting is sponsored by the Texas A&M College Extension Service and is open to anyone interested in pork production.

The whole question of safety in driving resolves itself down to the individual motorist.

If you wish to be perfect, follow the advice that you give others.

It'd be hard to find a Texan who hasn't been involved in a lively discussion recently as to whether the next Legislature should or should not pass a state sales tax or income tax next year.

Most folks are pretty strongly pro or con — no lukewarm feelings.

Property taxes are another matter. People may gripe about them but they don't often get stirred up about them.

But the latest report by the Texas State Tax Study Commission, "Our Property Taxes," underscores the importance of this levy. It is Texas' biggest money-maker for state and local government. In 1958 property taxes will bring in an estimated $629,000,000 to the state and all the various local taxing units.

More interesting, the Tax Commission's study of assessment and collection practices and problems indicates that this figure is probably only a fraction of what is legally due.

Shortage of personnel plus the mountainous difficulties of locating and evaluating all the items involved add up to inequalities and haphazard methods.

Under Texas law, individuals and businesses are supposed to pay property taxes on all real estate — land and buildings. In addition, both businesses and individuals are liable for taxes on all "tangible personal property" — cars, airplanes, boats, furniture, jewelry, business equipment, fixtures, inventories, etc. Also, on all "intangible personal property" — money, bonds, stocks, mortgages, etc.

In practice, many of these are just plain ignored by officials and citizens alike. Many cities make no effort to collect property taxes on cars. As to money, the Commission report observes, "If money in the bank were taxed on January 1, relatively few persons or businesses would have any money on deposit that day."

In other areas where more vigorous efforts at collection are made, results are spotty. Researchers found that the same piece of property would net widely varying tax bills in different counties. On one example the range was from $616 in Harris County to $1,132 in Travis County.

They also found that some people claim homestead exemptions for more than one house. At $3,000 each, these add up to unknown thousands in untaxed value.

Exemptions plus low assessments take a big bite from theoretically possible tax collections. In a study of 3,037 house sales, the Commission's research staff found the legal tax due to be $95,019. Actual taxes levied were $2,706, only 3 per cent of what strict application of the law would have produced.

Even though many tax offices are undermanned, Texas has 1,500 assessor-collectors. Sometimes a county, city and school district each will have an official doing the same job in the same area. Result: total cost of property tax administration in Texas exceeds $15,000,000 a year.

City Recommendations

Texas League of Municipalities has a series of recommendations — mostly in regard to money — for the next Legislature.

Topping the list was an appeal to the lawmakers to authorize cities to raise money through new tax sources. League also asked for thorough study of inequities in the property tax laws and revision where needed. It suggested that payment of property taxes on motor vehicles be required before issuance of new license tags.

Cities also asked the Legislature to step out of the field of regulating pay, pensions, and hours of city employes. Local citizens have to pay the bill, said the League, and ought to have the say-so.

Cost of High Living

It's not the income; it's the outgo that has put Texas treasury in the red, says State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert.

Calvert told Gov. Price Daniel's Executive Study Committee that all tax sources except oil are expected to bring in some $74,646,044 more revenue in the 1960-61 biennium than for 1958-59.

But, he pointed out, inescapable increase of needs in just one area — public schools — will just about absorb all this extra money.

Some Changes Made

Final outcome (from unofficial returns) of voting on proposed constitutional amendments resulted in these changes:

1. Appointees to vacated county judge and justice of the peace posts may serve only until the next general election — not for the remainder of a four-year term.

2. Precinct, county and district office holders may not announce for another office without resigning the office they hold.

3. Cities may elect their officials for four-year, instead of two-year terms.

4. Former Texas Rangers or their widows may receive pensions up to $80 a month.

5. State funds may be spent to advertise Texas outside the state.

6. Legislature may pass a law providing medical care assistance for people receiving old age pensions, aid to the blind, disabled or dependent children.

7. Legislature may authorize the creation of new hospital districts in Potter, Wichita and Jefferson counties.

On the other hand, when Texans put their foot on the proposal for annual sessions and $7,500 annual salaries for legislators, it meant lawmakers would face next year's tough taxing session with only 120 "pay" days. Lawmakers will have to get along on $25 a day for the first 120 days and then their pay stops except when special sessions are called by the governor.

Also turned down was a proposal to set up pension plans for elective officials of counties and precincts.

More Leeway Asked

Law setting up the Texas Water Developing Board is proving to be something of a strait jacket.

This opinion was expressed to the Board by J. E. Sturrock of the Texas Water Conservation Association. "You're doing a good job, but your law needs to be liberalized," said Sturrock.

Board is authorized to lend local governments up to one-third the cost of building a water conservation project. Suggested changes: lower interest rates to the borrowers, provision for lending more than one-third of cost.

P-TA Meets Thursday Night

Rescue of 19 men from North America's deepest mine last week has been called a miracle. And in many ways, it is. Who among us could have survived the ordeal of being buried alive — 13 thousand feet underground — as did 12 men for seven days and seven more for nine days?

Yet as in many of the now-legendary miracles of 2,000 years ago, there are practical explanations: a down draft cleared the air of poisonous gas; food from their lunch baskets lasted four days; they called upon their training in mine disaster survival to stay alive.

The miracle lies in the tremendous will-to-live which kept these men going through long dark hours, in cramped quarters, with so little hope. But even greater is the miracle of unselfishness among rescue squads, who wouldn't give up the search, risking their own lives in what must have seemed a hopeless cause. The trapped men, we might say, had nothing to lose by hanging on. The men in the free air outside could have convinced themselves that they had done all they could.

In these days of greed and lawlessness; of hate between mother and daughter, husband and wife, father and son; of luxury living and mixed-up moral standards — this is a miracle indeed.

Most of us are just ordinary folks, neither vscious nor heroic. We want to believe in the good in mankind; we want to practice it. Such an example of determination and selflessness, among humble people who still work and live in an eighteenth-cestury state of frugality and danger, will remind us of the human values that count.

The man who is afraid to admit his mistakes is making another.

While some men battle their way to the top, others bottle their way to the bottom.

To most of us money is no object. It's a myth.

There's little harmony in the home where either parent does all the harping.

Many a man condemns himself by revealing the faults of others.

Virginia Caldwell, Merle Dickerson Married in Double Ring Ceremony

Virginia Caldwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Caldwell of Channing, and Merle Dickerson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Dickerson of Canyon, were married Oct. 25 at John Knox Presbyterian Church in Lubbock. The Rev. James E. Tidwell of First Methodist Church in Brownfield, assisted by the Rev. A. S. Tippit, John Knox Presbyterian Church, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The wedding was performed beneath a large illuminated cross with baskets of white gladiolus on either side of the bridal altar. The altar table was appointed with a cross, an open Bible and altar candles. Each window was marked with tall white tapers.

Mrs. Larry Sanders, Amarillo accompanied Lamoyane Harrell, Lubbock, as she sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "Walk Hand in Hand With Me." A wedding medley was played softly during the service. Traditional wedding processional and recessional music was used.

Kathryn Sellers, Lubbock, was maid of honor. She wore a ballerina length dress of pink Chantilly lace and nylon net. The bodice and hooped skirt featured small rows of ruffling. She carried a cascade arrangement of white carnations.

Leroy Dickerson, Phillips, was his brother's best man.

Given in marriage by her brother, Frank Caldwell of Lubbock, the bride wore a ballerina hooped gown of Chantilly lace over satin. The fitted bodice featured a deep portrait neckline accented with teardrop pearls. A yoke of silk illusion extended over the shoulders to the long tapering sleeves. The lace cap held a tiered fingertip veil of silk illusion.

The bride carried a white Bible topped with white carnations tied with white satin streamers ending in love knots. She wore the traditional something old, new, borrowed and blue.

Mrs. Caldwell, mother of the bride, wore a blue shantung dress with black accessories. Mrs. Dickerson, the bridegroom's mother, wore a grey shantung dress accented with black velvet and black accessories. Both wore white carnation corsages.

A reception was held in the home of the bride's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mullican Jr., in Lubbock. The serving table was decorated with the bride's chosen colors, maroon and white. The large two-tiered cake on angel pedestals was at one end of the table with an heirloom cut glass punch bowl at the other.

For a short wedding trip, the bride wore a two piece dove-blue shantung dress with black accessories and a white carnation corsage. The couple is at home at 1709-C S. Pierce, Amarillo.

Mrs. Dickerson was graduated from Channing High School and received both a bachelor's and master's degree from West Texas State College. She is a teacher in the Amarillo public schools.

Mr. Dickerson, a graduate of Canyon High School, holds a bachelor of science and a master of education degree from WT. He is a veteran of World War II and the Korean War. He now teaches at Will Rogers Elementary School in Amarillo.

Members of the house party were Mrs. Frank Mullican Jr., Lubbock; Mrs. S. J. Rojek, Claude, sister of the bride; Mrs. Frank Caldwell, Lubbock, sister-in-law of the bride; Mrs. Max Bosley of Canyon, Mrs. DuBois Walker of Amarillo and Mrs. Clinton Miller of Floydada, sisters of the groom.

Stock Show Plans Will Be Discussed

Plans for the next Randall County Junior Livestock Show will be made tomorrow at 8 p. m.

This meeting, called by John J. Cook, president of the association, will be held at the vocational agriculture building at Canyon High School.

The show in early 1959 probably will be set in January. It usually is just prior to the Amarillo Fat Stock Show. Fat steers, swine and lambs will be exhibited and sold with the association making the arrangements and doing the financing.

Cook has requested that every member be on hand for this meeting. Some business is election of new officers and directors.

About 218 farmers, ranchers and businessmen in the area are members of the association. Their purpose is to encourage boys and girls of Randall County to feed and show livestock.

All men are created equal — and endowed by their creator with an insatiable urge to become otherwise.

Eagles Lose 14-6 to Dimmitt 'Cats; Named District 1-AA Co-Champs

The Canyon Eagles won a District 1-AA co-championship and lost the right to represent the district in a 14-6 loss to the Dimmitt Bobcats Friday night in Dimmitt.

The Eagles went into the game with a 3-0 district record, while Dimmitt owned a 2-1. Also tied with Dimmitt was Dalhart. Dalhart lost to Friona, giving Dimmitt and Canyon a tie for first place.

The game was split, with the first half and 14 points going to Dimmitt, and the second half, with six points, going to Canyon. Dimmitt picked up 134 yards rushing to 62 for Canyon in the first half, while Canyon made 80 to 60 for Dimmitt in the second half.

The first Dimmitt score came when about one-third of the second quarter was gone, and the second came when about two-thirds was gone. Canyon scored just before the end of the third quarter.

With fire in their eyes, the Bobcats took the opening kickoff and marched from their own 20 to the 42 before kicking on fourth down. The Eagles came right back and moved to the 35. On fourth down, with six yards needed, Jerry Richardson passed but it was no good.

Taking over on the 35, the Bobcats into Eagle territory and made their first penetration in 14 plays. They lost the ball on downs on the Canyon 19. An illegal pass receiver downfield penalty for Canyon left the ball on the one, but the Eagles moved it out to the 13 before Eddie Boydstun kicked on fourth down. The ball rolled out of bounds on the Canyon 29, and Dimmitt's first touchdowns was set up.

Eight plays were needed to cross the goal line, with halfback Norman Nelson plunging over from the one with 8:55 left in the second quarter. Carlos Barnes passed to Nelson for two extra points to make the score 8-0.

Canyon took the kickoff, but could do nothing with it, and Boydstun kicked to the Dimmitt 47 on fourth down. The Bobcats came right back with an 18-yard pass from Barnes to Jimmy Curtis, and moved right on down for another score. The 53-yard drive took nine plays, with Jerry Hyatt going over from the three. Curtis tried to run the extra points, but was stopped with 3:55 left in the second quarter.

A quick exchange of the ball followed the kickoff. Richardson threw a pass that was intercepted on the 31 and run back to the 25. Nelson ran to the 22, then Barnes threw a pass into the end zone. Richardson intercepted that pass for a touchback and gave the Eagles another chance from the 20.

On the first play, Richardson ran to the 35, but on the second an illegal receiver was downfield and Canyon tried again from the 20. In three plays they were back to the 41, but time ran out there.

The Eagles got the kickoff opening the second half and began a drive from the Canyon 41. They moved to the Dimmitt 22 in eight plays, but lost 16 yards in the next two plays to the 38. They held Dimmitt to a five yard loss in three downs and got the ball on a punt to the Canyon 32.

The ensuing drive ended in Canyon's first score. Richardson passed to Larry Brotherton for 21 yards, then the Eagles began a series of first down pickups. In 12 plays they had gained to the Dimmitt four, and Chuck Nester ran the last four yards to complete a drive of 68 yards for six points with about two minutes left in the quarter. Richardson tried to run for the extra points but was stopped short of the goal line.

Dimmitt began moving on the kickoff, from their own 24 to the 40, ending the quarter as they went. From the 40, Barnes threw a pass that Richardson intercepted on the 45.

It looked as if the Eagles might score once again on the drive. In seven plays they had gotten to the Dimmitt seven, but on the eighth play—third down and two—Richardson was dumped on the 13 for a six yard loss. The next play was a screen pass, but Dimmitt was waiting and Boydstun could pick up only two yards after catching the ball. Dimmitt took over on the 11 on downs.

They moved out to the 26 and punted to the Canyon 38. Boydstun ran back to the 40, but the Bobcats held for three downs and Boydstun kicked from the 41 to the 21.

Dimmitt then stalled out the clock with seven short-yardage runs, making 24 yards.

Statistics of the game were:

TELEPHONE TALK

by W. L. Leavy, Manager

COLD VACCINE

If and when a new vaccine against the common cold has been thoroughly tested and proven, the telephone company may have played an important part in the experiment. Employees at the St. Louis headquarters were offered the anti-cold shots, which while still experimental have been proven safe, on a voluntary basis. The location was selected for the test because it offered a conveniently located cross-section of people on whom health records are available. The Southwestern Bell Telephone Company is cooperating at the request of the Common Cold Foundation and the US Public Health Service in this experiment.

Wouldn't it be wonderful to just be able to get a shot and not have to worry with the sniffles?

Holiday Get-Together By Phone

With Thanksgiving at hand, many people I know are planning a long distance call to family members living out of town. If all the people in your family won't be with you in person for turkey and all the trimmings, let a telephone call wipe away the miles and still make it a "family day." After all, a long distance "voice visit" is the next best thing to being together. Why not plan now to make your call Thanksgiving Day?

"Strange Case of the Cosmic Rays"

The fascinating story of how scientists tracked down the mysterious cosmic rays will be told in a Bell System science show coming your way on TV on Sunday, Nov. 23. "The Strange Case of the Cosmic Rays" was first telecast last year. Today, this program should be even more timely with television viewers, since one of America's satellites spinning around the earth carries special sensitive devices to record these cosmic rays.

Starring Dr. Frank Baxter in the role of the "Scientist" and Richard Carlson as the "Writer," this Bell System science program is another in the series designed for family entertainment.

"The Strange Case of the Cosmic Rays" will be telecast over Channel 4 at 5:00 P.M., November 23rd, Sunday.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.
